BIOGRAPHY

Geof Nairn was born in 1942 and grew up on his parents mixed farm in Paracombe in the Adelaide Hills and undertook his secondary education at St Peter's College. He began his architectural career by enrolling in the Architecture Course at the University of Adelaide. On graduation Geof Nairn worked briefly in architectural offices in Adelaide including von Schramek and Dawes before setting up his own practice. Nairn's design ability was recognised by the South Australian Chapter of the RAI, receiving a housing award in 1968, and so at 26 he became the youngest recipient of a Chapter award. From 1968 to 1970 he travelled abroad and from 1970-1973 he was employed in two offices in Canada, working on large scale urban development projects. First, working under Dimitri Dimakopoulos on a large-scale urban development project, the Cite Concordia, and then on similar work in the office of Fiset, Deschamps and Papenek.

Geof Nairn returned to Adelaide to work in the office of Boehm and Twopeny, Architects before, once again, setting up his own practice in 1976. This time the practice was to last under his leadership for over 25 years. Under his leadership the practice has had a consistent record of being socially aware and design oriented, it has produced many buildings, nearly all in South Australia, which users enjoy and architects admire. In 2001 the practice became associated with other practices in Australia in a large overarching organisation – DesignInc of which he became a director.

From 1993 to April 1995 Geof Nairn was an active member of the Adelaide City Council producing suggestions for planning the city and in collaboration with Ron Danvers an urban design scheme for the redevelopment of Victoria Square. Geof Nairn has been a member of the Royal Australian Institute of Architects since 1964, a fellow since 1976 and a Life Fellow since 2002. He has been the recipient of many Chapter Awards and Commendations for his work. He also gave service to the Institute as a Councillor and as Chair of the Chapter's Environment Committee. In 2006 he was awarded the Chapter's highest honour, the Sir James Irwin President's Medal. He has contributed to both University architecture schools through teaching.

Notes and finding aid by Prof Judith Brine.
